Research Volunteers Needed!

Researchers at the University of Queensland are looking for male and female volunteers with dementia and their caregivers to participate in research. Under the direction of Professor Helen Chenery and Dr. Brooke-Mai Whelan

Who do we need?

- Participants who have been diagnosed with dementia
- Speak English sufficiently well to engage in a series of interviews and conversations
- Be willing try different technologies (e.g., iPad) to assist with communication difficulties (e.g., word finding problems, difficulty remembering what is happening and when it is happening)

Dates and times for participating are flexible and may involve 6 visits to your home (about 1 hour per visit).
